1. In view of the remarks filed dated September 10, 2007, the Final Rejection dated May 18, 2007 (which was in response to the amendment filed March 26, 2007) is hereby vacated in favor of the Final Rejection that follows.

2. Note: OTOHOSITA is an acronym for obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1, 5, 6 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Koo et al. (U. S. Pat. No. 5,842,358) or Forbes et al. (U. S. Pat. No. 4,712,035) in view of either Katou (U. S. Pat. No. 4,219,752) or Sakashita et al. (U. S. Pat. No. 5,976,200).

Re claims 1 and 6, Koo and Forbes are each cited disclosing a washing machine comprising:

an outer tub holding water;

an inner tub in the outer to hold laundry

a stator (91 in Koo et and 35 in Forbes) having an outer circumference on which a coil is wound;

a rotor (92 in Koo and 103 in Forbes) located and provided to leave a predetermined interval from an outside of the stator, the rotor being adapted to rotate when a current is applied to the coil; and a frame having a fixing means for fixing the rotor wherein the fixing means is built in one body of an inner circumference of the frame; and a shaft connecting the motor to the inner tub that differs from the claims only in the recitation of the rotor having a groove and the fixing means extending inward to fit into the groove. The patents to Katou (see image below) and Sakashita are each cited disclosing a rotor having a groove, with a frame having fixing means extending inward to fit into the groove as claimed. It therefore would have been OTOHOSITA to modify the rotor and frame in either Koo or Forbes, to include fixing means as taught by either Katou or Sakashita, for the purpose of positively securing the rotor to the frame. Metal rolling/bending/crimping techniques for securing metal components are old and well know. All of the claimed elements were known in the prior art and one skilled in the art could have combined the elements as claimed by known methods with no change in their respective functions, and the combination would have yielded predictable results to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention. Re claims 6 and 10, Koo, Forbes, Katou and Sakashita all disclose the frame being made of a metal-based material.

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 5, 6 and 10 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. In Rose, Sr., Shiga et al., Shimizu, Armstrong et al., Uemura et al., note the groove rotor and fixing means.
